

FINAL PROJECT DESIGN DIAGRAM: DOCUWIKI TO JSON
 Author: Benjamin R. Olson, March 8, 2014

NOTES: Error checking is done at various points through the process

When an error is found, the program will exit with a message showing information about the cause of the error and what files have been successfully processed up to the error.

The process shown above is for each CLI argv array element. This process is contained in a loop that loops through argv elements.

Each argv element should represent a valid DocuWiki filename, and the DocuWiki file should follow the exact format and syntax specified by the program in order for there to be a successful conversion to json file.

END DESIGN DIAGRAM